THE summary of the Indian Financia Statement given in our mail news to-day shows how seriously the exchange difficulty continues to affect the budget. The fall in the rate of exchange has in two years added Rx. 4,142,400 to the expenditure. Notwithstanding the difficulties of the present day Sir David Barbour repeats his former belief that the resources of India are adequate to her wants, but on the condition that the measures of the Government of India are taken in good time, are regulated by prudence and forethought, and carried into effect with strict regard to economy. One of the respects in which prudence and forethought ought to be exercised is the avoidauce of incurring further liabilities in gold. The same consideration applies to this Colony, but we presume it is useless urging raised in silver and not in sterling, though the lesson of India ought not to be lost the rest of the world to similar nots of "pat- Chicago among them, and then go on by easy on our Government. All India's financial riotism, difficulties have arisen from her baving contracted obligations in gold while her own currency is silver. The prosperity of the country and people has gone on steadily progressing, but the national finances have into disorder by the continuous fall in exchange. One of the matters in which the prosperity of the country is indicated is the increase in the revenue from railways. The increase in the receipts from this source in the financial year 1891-92, was no less than twenty-seven million of rupees. To some extent the improvement was nominal, being partly due to the gross receipts of one of the lines being included whereas in the previous year it was a guaranteed railway and only the net receipts were given. But the greater portion of the improvement, we read in the Rangoon Gazette, was due to an exceptionally heavy export traffic of wheat and sceds, to the "exchange made possible for Indian produce? These prices stimulate pro-"duction and they "supply the people with money to spend on pilgrimages and "other junketings." A day or two ago we had occasion to refer to the price of grain in chasing power of silver. Grain appears to be the only article on which there has been such an increase in the silver price as might lead to the supposition that the purchasing power of the white metal had diminished. But may this not-be due-rather to the increased facilities for transport having stimulated demand from Europe ?

THE INDIAN FINANCIAL STATEMENT: THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

CALCUTTA, 23rd March. The Financial Statement was presented to the Legislative Council to-day. The accounts of 1891.92 have closed with a surplus of Rz, 467,000. In the Revised Estimates for 1892-93 the revenue is estimated at Rx. 90.021,200 and the expenditure at Rr. 91,103,100, giving a deficit of \mathbf{Rr} , 1.031.900. The fall in the rate of exchange luring the year below is. 4d , the rate taken in the Budget, has added Rr. 1,635,300 to the expenditure and there has also been a considerable increase of sterling expenditure and of expenditure on the the Army in India. On the other side of the account, there has been an increase of net opinm revenue in Ludia to the oxtent of Rx. 971,900 and a large and satisfactory growth of general revenue. The unfavourable influences ontweigh the fevourable and instead of the surplus of Rx. 146.600 shown in the bad. get a deficit of Rx 1,081,900 is expected. It is explained that the large increase in the net opium revenue is due to an nufavourable season and a poor crop. The payments for crude opium have consequently been test than the estimate. and the selling price of Bangal opium has largev risen owing to the reduction from 1st October if the quantity sold monthly. In the Budget for 1893-91 the revenue is estimated at Rx. 90.005,700 and the expenditure at Rx. 91,600,800, giving a deficit of Rx. 1.595,100. The rate of exchange is taken at is. Ed, and the fall in the rate of exchange aids Rx. 1.989,400 directly and Rx. 249,000 indirectly to the expenditure, making a total addition to expenditure of Rx 2.229.400. There is also, as compared with the Budget figures of 1892-93, some addition to expenditure on the Army in India and some reduction in the net opium affected the estimates of 1893-94 are an increase of ordinary revenue of Rx. 647.700, some improvement in net railway receipts, and some reduction in not starling expenditure and in ordinary expenditure in India It is explained that the fall in the rate of exchange has in two years ad le! Rx. 4.142.400 to the expenditure and that the future of Indian'

Among the influences which have favourably hannes at the present time depends on the course of exchange. Atthough the Government of India are most unwilling to budget for a deficit it is considered inexpedient to take measures for the restoration of financial equilibrium until the Home Government have received the report of Lord Herschell's committee and given their decision on the Indian Currency question. It is clearly shown that any measures which could be adopted at the present moment must be either inadequate or unnecessary, and it is stated that the decision on the currency question cannot be much longer delayed. Sir David Barbour appears to all persons who have taken part in the disputes on the ourrency question to put aside personal feeling in the matter, to accept whatever decision may now be given, and to endeavour loyally to carry it into effect. He adds that he is willing to take this course himself, though he still prefers a settlement of the question by international agreement and hopes that it may be possible to secure it at some future time. Notwithstanding the difficulties of the present. day he repeats his former belief that the resources of India are adequate to her wants but on the condition that the measures of the Government of India are taken in good time are regulated by prudence and forethought, and are carried into effect with atriot regard to economy. The estimates of 1893-94 provide Rx 3,550,000 for capital expenditure not charged to revenue as well as Rr. 1,119,500 under the famine grant. It is expected that a loan of Rx. 3,000,000 will be raised in India during the year but no pledge is given. It is announced under the usual reserve that the Secretary of State will probably draw bills |for $18,700,000 during the coming year, sudwill raise a loan for $1,800,000 for the discharge
